MANDATE TO SERVE

Selangor Menteri Besar Dato' Seri Amirudin Shari has given the assurance that the state administration remains resilient under his leadership with the strong show of support from the 43 Pakatan Harapan state assemblymen. He also pledged that the state government will continue to honour the people's mandate.

Smart plans on right track

THE Selangor administration had formulated 60 initiatives under its Smart Selangor Programme in late 2015, intended to fulfil the needs of its growing population.

Leveraging on this, State Executive Councillor Ng Sze Han says the administration has now put itself on the right track in making sure that its vision to become Southeast Asia's premier smart state by 2025 is achieved.

One-stop cardiology centre for all

By ZAREEF MUZAMMIL

SERDANG - Serdang Hospital's Cardiology Centre will be able to manage and treat patients from across the country when it opens its doors in June next year.

Selangor Menteri Besar Dato' Seri Amirudin Shari said the centre will be separated from the main hospital building, making it easier for specialists and patients, as all services will be centralised.

"Serdang Hospital is a referral centre for cardiology and heart-related illnesses.

"We are proud that with completion of the Cardiologist Centre, the hospital would attract those from outside (of Selangor) and that patients can be referred for faster treatment," said Amirudin during a working visit to the centre's construction site here on March 3.

The Cardiology Centre is a Federal government project developed under the 11th Malaysia Plan (11MP) in Selangor, costing almost RM306 million.

Construction began in March 2018 by Nadi Cergas Sdn Bhd.

Upon its completion, the eight-storey building will house 262 beds. The facility will also boast a nine-storey car park.

State set on managing its own waste

SHAH ALAM - The Selangor administration has plans to take control of the state's own solid waste and public cleansing management due to the challenges it faces in managing a large population.

Despite the Federal government's efforts to get several remaining states in Malaysia to enforce the Solid Waste and Public Cleansing Management Act 2007 (Act 672), which took effect in 2016, the state government has formulated its own enactment that would cater to the Selangor populace.

State Local Government, Public Transport and New Village Development Committee chairman Ng Sze Han said Selangor also has its own concessionaire, KDEB Waste Management Sdn Bhd (KDEBWM), as the Project Management Company (PMC) to collect rubbish and manage waste.

"Selangor is quite a unique state or in other words, different from other states. We are facing bigger challenges compared to other states.

"We have all types of industries and businesses here. The population of Selangor is also much bigger than other states ... so, we want to have full enforcement when it comes to solid waste management.

"We have already appointed KDEBWM as our PMC, which would make it difficult for us to comply with Act 672," he told Selangor Journal in an interview on Feb 17.

Ng said the move to enforce its own enactment is the best way to ensure a clean Selangor as the existing solid waste management system has been effective.

"We have to make sure that our own enactment is suitable for Selangor," he said, adding that a draft copy of the enactment has been handed over to the Federal government.

"We are waiting for their comments and we hope to get the green light from them to go ahead with our own law."

Apart from Selangor, it has been reported that four other states — Kelantan, Terengganu, Perak and Penang — have not enforced Act 672.

The Act is currently only enforced in Kuala Lumpur, Putrajaya, Pahang, Johor, Negeri Sembilan, Melaka and Kedah.

Former Housing and Local Government Minister Zuraida Kamardin had previously stated that the signing of the agreement is important as it creates a uniform cleanliness policy across the country.

However, she noted that it is up to each state to find its own concessionaire to collect the rubbish, so long as an efficient system is in place.

Selangor cancels all non-critical events

SHAH ALAM - The state government has postponed several big-scale events in the wake of the Covid-19 outbreak in Malaysia.

Among the programmes postponed include the Selangor Land Carnival 2020 and the Selangor Job Fair 2020.

Selangor Menteri Besar Dato' Seri Amirudin Shari said the decision to postpone or cancel events that are non-critical was made after the state government took into account the views of various parties as well as measures to prevent the spread of the virus.

"The decision was made following the World Health Organisation's announcement that the coronavirus outbreak is a pandemic. Precautionary measures will be implemented for those events which are deemed critical and unpreventable," he said in a statement on March 12.

Amirudin stressed that the state government prioritises the health of the people and will do whatever is necessary to contain the outbreak.

"Practice good etiquette as stipulated by the Health Ministry. Use hand sanitisers and wear a face mask," he said.

Amirudin also said the Selangor Economic Action Council has approved the formation of a task force assigned to control and monitor the virus outbreak in the state.

"The task force will be headed by former Health Minister Datuk Seri Dzulkefly Ahmad and will be assisted by state Health, Welfare, Women Empowerment and Family committee chairman Dr Siti Mariah Mahmud."

Other members of the task force include Datuk Dr Christopher Lee Kwok Choong, Datuk Dr Adeeba Kamarulzaman, Datuk Dr Fadzilah Kamaludin, Dr Abdul Rashid Abdul Rahman and Dr Yap Wei Aun.

BERLIN - The coronavirus outbreak has hit the global tourism industry hard, with many people around the world choosing to take a break from travelling.

Tourism Selangor, however, is not slowing down as it remains committed to contributing to the Visit Malaysia 2020 campaign, while also gearing up for Visit Selangor 2021.

Selangor was one of the participating states set to showcase its tourism products at the renowned international convention ITB Berlin (Internationale Tourismus-Börse Berlin) 2020, in Berlin, Germany, which was cancelled just days before it was due to open on March 4.

Speaking to Selangor Journal, Tourism Selangor general manager Azrul Shah Mohamad said the cancellation of the convention had not hindered his team from continuing with their plans to woo the European market.

He said small-scale Business-to-Business (B2B) sessions were held in Berlin with local tour and travel agencies, the media, and bloggers, to introduce the experiential tourism packages offered through the Selangor Community Host Programme.

The programme, which consists of 51 packages, offers the service of local tour guides to expose tourists to the local community and the state's heritage and culture.

"People may not be travelling now, but they will be planning their future travels. Therefore we continued with the promotional campaigns, such as meeting with the travel agencies that we had contacted before arriving in Berlin, and had also met with local bloggers and media representatives, who will cooperate with us on some of the campaigns we have."

"Aside from the experiential packages, there are several other tourism products that would attract European visitors, including Sky Mirror (in Kuala Selangor) and Gamuda Cove (in Dengkil)," Azrul said during a recent interview at the Malaysian Embassy in Berlin.

Apart from B2B sessions, Tourism Selangor also held a Government-to-Government session with Berlin-based Malaysian ambassador to Germany, Datin Sarah Albakri Devadason, as well as Tourism Malaysia officers in Berlin.

Tourism Selangor had also launched the "Selangor Up-Close 2020: Europe Edition Travelogue Competition; #SelangorThroughMyLens" during the "Meet & Greet Session with Berlin Media" held at the embassy on March 5.

Despite the projected 50 to 60 per cent drop in international tourists amid fears of Covid-19, Azrul said he is positive that the Selangor government would be able to attract the targeted number of visitors due to the strategies that have been put in place to help cushion the impact.

The strategies include focusing on domestic tourists and banking on sports and medical tourism.

"Selangor is one of the best in medical tourism. The industry is thriving as we have many medical centres, over 40 of them, that are of international standard."

"We see a lot of tourists coming from Indonesia and other Asean countries for medical tourism and at the same time they would take the opportunity to explore the state, do some shopping or visit theme parks and such," he said.

The Selangor administration is targeting eight million tourist arrivals this year, as part of the overall Visit Malaysia 2020 campaign.

"I believe we will hit the target. The drop in the tourism sector is a global phenomenon, it's not only Selangor that has been affected.

"But each state has its own uniqueness and Selangor has a lot of attractions to woo local tourists, such as paragliding sports, which can be experienced in Kuala Langat and Hulu Selangor."

As several large-scale tourism events are being called off, Azrul said Tourism Selangor is actively introducing tourist destinations to the wider audience of the Internet.

"We are fully utilising social media platforms as well as our new and revamped website at selangortravel.com as part of our efforts to promote the tourism products in Selangor."

New Elite-SKVE flyover to ease traffic woes

By KHAIRUL AZRAN HUSSIN

KUALA LANGAT - The construction of a flyover meant to ease traffic woes in Bandar Saujana Putra is expected to be completed in September next year, said the Selangor state conglomerate Permodalan Negeri Selangor Berhad (PNSB).

Its assistant planning manager Yousman Yaakub said the eight-lane flyover, with a distance of 800 metres, will connect the North-South Expressway Central Link (Elite) and the South Klang Valley Expressway (SKVE) without passing through the Bandar Saujana Putra roundabout.

"The elevated exit and the Bandar Saujana Putra Toll Plaza, which connects the Elite highway with the township, was officially opened on March 5, 2008.

"However, a flyover connecting Elite and SKVE had not been constructed, causing traffic congestion for the residents in the area and highway users," said Yousman during an inspection visit to the construction site, here on March 3.

Yousman said the flyover will benefit 65,000 residents and highway users, especially during peak hours.

"The Bandar Saujana Putra roundabout will be replaced with a cross-junction with a traffic light system. We are confident that the completion of this project will solve traffic issues."

On April 12, 2019, Selangor Menteri Besar Dato' Seri Amirudin Shari had announced a RM60 million allocation for the construction of the flyover by LBS Bina Group Berhad in collaboration with PNSB.

Solutions underway for flood-prone areas

SHAH ALAM - The Selangor government has recently inspected several areas that are often at risk of flooding, in order to address the problem, said the state Infrastructure and Public Amenities, Agricultural Modernisation and Agro-based Industry Committee chairman.

Bandar Utama, Ijok, Bukit Melawati, Kota Kemuning and Seri Serdang were identified as the most vulnerable locations, said Izham Hashim.

Izham Hashim

Izham said these locations have been surveyed by members of the Flood Task Force Committee, heads of related departments and local councillors and a meeting was held on Feb 28 to discuss solutions.

"Both long- and short-term flood mitigation efforts will be implemented based on the findings of the meeting.

"The priority is to solve the people's problems and give them a better life," he said in a statement via Facebook on Feb 28.

On Nov 12 last year, Izham had stressed that the state government would give its full commitment to address the problem of flooding.

The 2020 Selangor Budget had allocated RM84.4 million to the Selangor Drainage and Irrigation Department (DID) to serve this purpose.

Of this, RM52.19 million was allocated to the flood mitigation project, RM26.84 million for drainage upgrades, RM700,000 to develop the river basin and RM960,000 for water and hydrological resource management.

Hearing's outcome will spur improvements: Selcat

SHAH ALAM - The decisions of the public hearing on the work performance of local authorities and council members, which was held on Feb 20, will be tabled at the Selangor state assembly sitting in March.

Selangor Select Committee for Competency, Accountability and Transparency (Selcat) chairman Ng Suee Lim said the outcome of the deliberations would then become the foundation for improving the quality of service for the people.

"This public hearing was not meant to penalise council members but rather, to resolve several issues as they do not have a guideline (to work with) or specific assessment methods (to monitor the quality of their work).

"If we look at 10 years ago, the councillors' position was considered a part-time job and their job scope was not monitored.

"But nowadays, the public is not only monitoring their representatives but are also keeping an eye on councillors as they (the councillors) are the means for people to voice their concerns. That is why the councillors have to work hard," he told a press conference at the annexe building of the Selangor state legislative assembly building, here on Feb 20.

Meanwhile, Ng, who is also the Selangor Speaker, said the committee, which was formed by the state legislative assembly, would be exemplary to other states.

He said he was pleased that representatives from Kelantan, Terengganu, Negeri Sembilan, Perlis and Melaka were present to witness the public hearing.

Also present at the press conference were Selcat members Hulu Kelang assemblyman Saari Sungib, Banting assemblyman Lau Weng San, Bandar Utama assemblyman Jamaliah Jamaluddin, Sungai Air Tawar assemblyman Rizam Ismail and Sijangkang assemblyman Datuk Dr Ahmad Yunus Hairi.

SHAH ALAM - The Selangor government remains resilient under the leadership of its Menteri Besar Dato' Seri Amirudin Shari.

Amirudin said the latest composition of 43 assemblymen indicates a solid backing for the current administration and dismisses any allegations of leadership issues.

Following the strong show of support from the Pakatan Harapan state assemblymen, the Menteri Besar has called for solidarity and reflection.

"I think after the prolonged crisis, this matter (of uncertainty in leadership) should have been avoided. Certainly today, the majority of assemblymen have stated their support for me and for the (Pakatan) leadership in the state.

"We should always remember and reflect on what has happened at the federal level. The strong show of solidarity between PH leaders is the reason why we resolved the problems in Selangor within 24 hours," he told a press conference at his official residence here on March 5.

Earlier, Amirudin read aloud a joint PH Selangor statement saying that the pact will continue to support his leadership.

The statement was signed by Amirudin as the state PKR chief, Selangor Amanah chairman Izham Hashim and Selangor DAP chairman Gobind Singh Deo.

Amirudin also pledged his long-standing commitment to PKR, saying he is no longer with those who were sacked from the party, even though in the past he was often associated with them.

The PH Federal government collapsed on Feb 24, after losing its majority in Parliament with the exit of 26 Bersatu members

The former ruling coalition had 139 MPs in the 222-seat Parliament, comprising of PKR (50), DAP (42), Bersatu (26), and Amanah (11). Pakatan had also regarded as its partners Parti Warisan Sabah (9) and Upko (1).

Following the collapse, Amirudin had on Feb 25 said the Selangor administration pledges to continue to honour the people's mandate and to carry out the agendas that would benefit the state and its people.

After being granted an audience with the Sultan of Selangor Sultan Sharafuddin Idris Shah, Amirudin said the Ruler is satisfied with the state administration's reiteration to serve with loyalty and dedication.

"His Royal Highness is satisfied with the explanation that the current state government will continue its commitment to honour the mandate given by the people of Selangor in the last general election.

"His Royal Highness has given consent to the Selangor government to function and run as usual," said Amirudin, who was granted an audience at the Istana Bukit Kayangan together with state party heads, Gobind and Izham.

Shah Alam showcased as model city

By KHAIRUL AZRAN HUSSIN

SHAH ALAM - During one of the sessions at a recent international conference of cities held in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, Menteri Besar Dato' Seri Amirudin Shari had the opportunity to share his views on Selangor's urban development model.

On Feb 12, Amirudin posted on Facebook about how he was able to talk about Selangor's experience in meeting the specifications of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) during the Matchmaking session at the 10th World Urban Forum (WUF10), which was held from Feb 8 to 13.

"I am pleased to have represented the Shah Alam City Council (MBSA) as the first city in Southeast Asia to have presented its SDG report at the forum in Abu Dhabi.

"We were also given an opportunity to learn about Japan's urban development through a presentation by Institute for Global Environmental Strategies (IGES) director Junichi Fujino," said Amirudin.

On Feb 10, MBSA had presented its SDGs at the conference, which was launched by Amirudin.

Also present during the Matchmaking session were United Cities and Local Governments Asia Pacific (UCLG Aspac) Secretary-General Bernadia Irawati and the chief of the Sustainable Urban Development Section of the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (Unescap), Curt Garrigan.

Amirudin said he hopes that the discussion between Selangor, UCLG Aspac, IGES, and Unescap will strengthen the group's spirit of cooperation, in line with SDG 17's larger goal of sustainable development through strategic partnerships.

On Feb 11, Amirudin had expressed his hopes to see MBSA making history as the first Malaysian city to present its report on SDGs in New York, US, this July.

"Shah Alam is on the right track in improving its delivery system to achieve the smart city aspiration," he wrote on Twitter.

Meanwhile, Shah Alam Mayor Datuk Haris Kasim said the initiative opens up the opportunity for MBSA to showcase its best practices to the people and ensure the transparency and accountability of the development of a local government.

Apart from sharing its best practices with other cities around the world, Shah Alam is also one of the selected cities for the development of new and existing projects.

"Our vision is to make the Shah Alam local voluntary study the first model in integrating the SDGs and the New Municipal Agenda in a systematic approach," he said in a statement on Feb 11.

Dream properties attract 800 to PKNS expo

By ZAREEF MUZAMMIL

SHAH ALAM - The Selangor State Development Corporation (PKNS) is aiming to make RM46 million through the sale of 100 property units at the first series of the "PKNS X HOMES" exhibition, which was held at the SACC Shopping Mall, here, from Feb 28 to March 8.

The 10-day exhibition, which saw some 800 visitors, was a rebranding of the corporation's property collection in its efforts to boost sales.

PKNS chief executive officer Datuk Mohd Azizi Mohd Zain said five PKNS subsidiaries had offered 50 real estate products located in Selangor. Among the strategic locations on offer were Shah Alam, Antara Gapi, Bernam Jaya, Kota Puteri, Alam Nusantara and Selangor Cyber Valley.

"This programme is the best platform to bring every real-estate and construction-related subsidiaries together. Buyers don't have to seek other alternatives because all the real estate products are exhibited here."

"In fact, this exhibition offers various categories of houses to the buyers. We can also achieve our 70 per cent sales target through this programme, considering our current dim market trends," Mohd Azizi told reporters after the launch of the exhibition here on Feb 28.

Also present were PKNS chief operating officer Norita Mohd Sidek, PKNS Northern Regional Development general manager Muhibin Faharuddin, and PKNS chief finance officer Nor Azlina Amran.

Among the developers involved were PKNS Engineering and Construction Berhad, Selangor Industrial Corporation Sdn Bhd, Selaman Sdn Bhd, Datumcorp International Sdn Bhd, Worldwide Holdings Berhad and Cagamas SRP Berhad.

The PKNS property collection exhibition also received the participation of four banking institutions namely Maybank Berhad, Bank Muamalat, Bank Simpanan Nasional dan Bank Islam, who were there to facilitate the buyers' loan applications.

According to Mohd Azizi, there were some 198 housing units under Rumah Selangorku that were up for sale.

The completed townhouse projects are in Kota Puteri; Azhara in Antara Gapi; Cassia in Antara Gapi; Anggun Kirana in Alam Nusantara and Hijauan Enklaf in Alam Nusantara.

To encourage the purchase of properties during the exhibition, PKNS had offered discounts of up to 20 per cent, which included free legal fees.

PKNS also offered free stamp duties for the Memorandum of Transfer for selected projects.

Property buyers stood a chance to win a Proton X70 car worth almost RM100,000 as the grand prize for a lucky draw.

Dedicated and ready to help

With the slogan "Hentikan Pencarian, Inilah Penemuan" ("Look No Further, You've Found It Here"), the exhibition also introduced new initiatives, namely the "PKNS X Line", the "PKNS X Squad", the "Selangor X Homes" and the "PKNS X Website" to guide the public through the process of buying and selling PKNS properties.

PKNS X Line

The public can contact the PKNS Executive Sales Unit at 03-50220188 for more information.

PKNS X Squad

Credible and experienced sales executives in the real estate industry who are always prepared to guide prospective buyers through all PKNS real estate matters.

Selangor X Homes

The event will be held in August 2020 and will showcase homes and interior decorating ideas, and financing matters.

PKNS X Website

A website that gathers in one place all the data and information on PKNS real estate products and the company's subsidiaries. This will help real estate buyers make the best choices.

Opportunities for merchants, investors, at upcoming summit

By ASHWIN KUMAR

SHAH ALAM - The fourth Selangor International Business Summit (SIBS) will be held from Oct 14 to 17 this year and is expected to attract more than 40,000 trade visitors.

The four-day summit will be held at the Kuala Lumpur Convention Centre and will showcase a diverse range of international products and services, as it will be hosting over 850 local and international booths.

Selangor Investment, Industry and Trade, Small and Medium Industries Committee chairman Datuk Teng Chang Khim said the summit will incorporate four components, namely the 6th Selangor International Expo (SIE), the 2nd Selangor Research and Development and Innovation Expo (SRIE), the 4th Selangor-Asean Business Conference (SABC), and the 5th Selangor Smart City and Digital Economy Convention (SDEC).

"The 6th SIE will continue to be the biggest component of SIBS 2020. For this year's edition, the SIE will expand its international buyers' programme from 141 buyers in 2019 to 300 from all over the world who are looking to expand their Food and Beverages product sourcing in Asean," Teng told a media conference after attending the Pocket Talk Programme on the F&B Industry here on March 4.

Among the highlights of the 6th SIE are the Malaysia International Tea and Coffee Expo, the Selangor International Culinary Festival and the Selangor International Halal Conference.

Teng also explained that the second component of SIBS, SABC 2020 is expected to be equally interesting with the gathering of economic players, including high-profile business leaders, trade-related associations and international investors, from several countries.

"SABC 2020 aims to strengthen ties between Asean and non-Asean companies by providing valuable updates and guidance on business expansion into new markets," he said.

Meanwhile, The SDEC 2020 is expected to provide opportunities for investors, entrepreneurs and corporate executives to share and discuss the latest ideas surrounding Artificial Intelligence.

"The SRIE 2020 completes the summit to solidify Selangor's position and value in the global world of innovations by giving innovators a platform to integrate and create while encouraging direct peer engagement for higher levels of deal-making, co-investments, strategic partnerships and business networking," added Teng.

Since its inception in 2015, SIBS has welcomed nearly 100,000 visitors from over 50 countries, accumulating RM1,143.30 million in a negotiated transaction value.

Banking on niche sectors amid Covid-19 gloom

SHAH ALAM - Selangor may still be able to secure investors despite increasing fears that Covid-19 has impacted the global economy.

Selangor Investment, Industry and Trade, Small and Medium Industries Committee chairman Datuk Teng Chang Khim said investment clusters such as the electronics and electrical sector, and the medical and pharmaceutical sector, continue to provide strength to the state's economy and could attract more investors.

"We expect more investors within our focus to invest here. China has been the world factory for the past 10 years. However, since Covid-19, other investors who are very sensitive to the current situation are somehow looking into the possibility of exploring into these sectors."

"You can't put all your eggs in one basket," Teng said, referring to China's 10 years of investment dominance in the state.

Teng was speaking after attending the Pocket Talk Programme at Concorde Hotel on March 4.

He said the state government would take a "wait and see" approach to decide on whether there is a need to restructure the investment strategy for 2020.

"For now, we will stick to our target which is to achieve investments worth RM12 billion in 2020 compared to the RM10 billion last year. We have to wait at least two to four months to see the outcome of Covid-19," he added.

When asked if Selangor will be introducing its own stimulus package, Teng said: "At the state level, we have shortened the period of application for development approvals and also for applications related to subdivision and the rezoning of land. From the state government perspective, we have already been playing our part."

Housing market shows early signs of recovery

SHAH ALAM - Although the Malaysian property market outlook remains challenging, it is showing some signs of recovery even though the progress may be slow.

Selangor State Development Corporation (PKNS) Chief Operating Officer Norita Mohd Sidek said the property bubble between 2011 and 2013 saw the Malaysian house price index increase by an average of 11 per cent.

"This resulted in a combination of oversupply and slowing demand, which affected the property overhang. Fortunately, there are signs of a possible recovery although it may be slow progress," Norita said in her welcome address at the National C-Level Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) conference 2020 here on Feb 25.

Norita noted that the additional efforts by the Federal government, such as reducing the minimum threshold price for foreigners to buy residential property, could also spur property demand.

"Property owners and industry players need to find a way to unlock the value of the assets that they own in order to maintain their survival in the market," she said.

Norita also said REITs have always been viewed by investors as a defensive investment and are particularly in demand in times of economic uncertainty, given their good sustainable dividend yields.

REITs are companies that own or finance income-producing real estate including commercial, industrial or hospitality properties.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

By ASHWIN KUMAR

THE Selangor administration had formulated 60 initiatives under its Smart Selangor Programme in late 2015, intended to fulfil the needs of its growing population.

Leveraging on its smart technology and innovations, Selangor now aspires to be Southeast Asia's premier smart state by 2025. Smart waste management, smart transport and mobility, and smart governance are just three of the 12 domains that will help the state achieve its goal.

State Local Government, Public Transportation and New Village Development Executive Councillor Ng Sze Han told Selangor Journal in a recent interview that 2019 is a year to remember as the state had put itself on the right track to achieving its vision.

Helping people on the move

Ng said one of the achievements of the Smart Selangor Programme is the focus given to the domain of transportation. Providing free bus rides for people in the vicinity of all the 12 local councils reflects a caring and innovative government.

"Our priority is the Smart Selangor Bus service for the people of Selangor."

"When the programme was introduced in 2015, the first phase was to ensure that the service is made available in all 12 local councils in Selangor, which we have achieved. So far, we have 143 buses and 38 routes across the state.

"The second phase, which we are now working on, focuses on improving the service," he said.

Ng refutes claims that foreigners have been the bigger beneficiary of the free bus rides. He said studies conducted the district land office, plus a RM500 fine, compounded by an additional RM100 per day until the issue is resolved.

Smart monitoring

Previously, it was reported that the Subang Jaya Municipal Council (MPSJ) plans to install more high-tech closed-circuit television (CCTV) cameras in the SS15 commercial area to monitor parking and traffic flow.

Under the proposed pilot project, the CCTVs would be equipped with enhanced technology and algorithms that could gauge the behaviour of motorists and alert authorities for further action.

On this, Ng said the pilot project is being handled by the Smart Selangor Delivery Unit and is aimed at reducing crime and traffic congestion.

The CCTVs have been placed lower in public areas to enable facial recognition and vehicle registration identification. We hope to reduce traffic congestion and enhance safety in the area."

Ng also believes that successful implementation of the pilot project would provide greater opportunity for the whole of Selangor to adopt the same technology.

Moving forward

On Selangor's Sustainable Development Goals, Ng revealed that the administration has focused on the SDG indicators under 11.2 — which is to provide access to safe, affordable, accessible and sustainable transport systems for all, improving road safety, and expanding public transport — and 11.6 — which focuses on reducing the adverse per capita environmental impact of cities. Both indicators are targeted to be achieved by 2030.

"Based on my experience, every unlicensed factory has a different and unique problem so we cannot give blanket approval because of the reasons for being unlicensed varies. Our aim is to help all of them legalise their operations and we can only do that if the owners cooperate with us," explained Ng.

He said as of now, the response from factory owners from the dialogue sessions has been overwhelming and the authorities are glad that the owners have come forward to legalise their businesses.

"We are not here to judge or scrutinise any unlicensed factory as we really want to make this legalisation programme a success by Sept 30," Ng said.

After the cut-off date, non-compliance would lead to the illegal land being seized by by the Hulu Selangor and Shah Alam local authorities showed that foreigners accounted for only between 2 and 9 per cent of the total commuters. The state had recorded a total of 46,901,720 commuters from July 2015 to January 31, 2020.

"Foreigners no longer get free rides. They have been paying RM1 per ride since the start of the year.

"However, this move has got nothing to do with discrimination towards foreigners. We just want to give priority to taxpayers first."

Ng said the state government spent RM106 million to deploy 18 buses for 43 routes between July 2015 and September 2019.

A cleaner state

Ng highlighted that the management of solid waste in the state is running smoothly and most residents are satisfied with the quality of work carried out by Kumpulan Darul Ehsan Waste Management (KDEBWM) Sdn Bhd.

KDEBWM has been fully responsible for managing the waste of all 12 local authorities in the state since January.

"We consider the appointment of KDEBWM an achievement. However, there are issues, such as cleanliness, that have to be improved this year.

"KDEBWM is doing its best and complaints on the collection of domestic waste in these areas have dropped by 96 per cent.

"Previously, before KDEBWM, we used to get stench-related complaints during waste collection operations. There were also complaints that normal lorries were used to collect the waste."

Ng added that KDEBWM's Japanese-made compactor lorries, equipped with several sophisticated features, are being used by all sub-contractors in Selangor.

"The movement of these lorries are tracked using the Automatic Vehicle Locating System, and monitored by the Centralised Command Centre in Shah Alam."

Parking made easy

Ng revealed that the Smart Selangor Parking phone application initiative has received almost 99 per cent of positive feedback by its users.

He said the state administration has surpassed its initial target for the parking application, which was 500,000 users.

"At present, the application has already been downloaded by more than half a million users and the government expects one million users by the end of the year.

"Via the app, all public parking under the purview of local governments would be paid.

"The app has been problem-free so far and it stores the data of your parking expenses. It is a success but we should not stop here ... something has to be done to bring it to another level and I will forward this to the Menteri Besar and other state executive councillors."

Leading the green revolution

By ASHWIN KUMAR

THE nature-rich state of Selangor is set to become one of the major players in green technology in Malaysia through its continued commitment towards developing a sustainable future. The state government is at the forefront of projects involving the preservation and conservation of its natural resources.

Selangor Environment, Green Technology, Science, Technology and Innovation, and Consumer Affairs Committee chairman Hee Loy Sian said the administration's commitment is evident from the amount of funds allocated to implement various environmental protection programmes.

"I have always set my target that Selangor must lead in all aspects of environmental issues, such as greening the state, saving biodiversity, as well as changing the public's mindset and educating them. Fortunately, we have already moved in the right direction but more needs to be done in order to become a green state."

"Based on a study we carried out, awareness about single-use plastic bags is high and 80 per cent of the people in the state have agreed to have the campaign continued," he said in a recent interview with Selangor Journal.

Hee revealed that the state government is launching a new green technology blueprint, which aims to play a significant role in carbon sequestration.

Carbon sequestration refers to the long-term removal of carbon dioxide to slow down the accumulation of greenhouse gasses that cause global warming.

"Let us hope that our financial status permits the launch of the blueprint," he said.

Phasing out plastics

Beginning Jan 1, business premises in Selangor are required to register with their respective local authorities if they intend to collect 20 sen from their customers for the plastic bags they provide.

Hee said a certificate would then be issued to them for display, as part of the awareness campaign.

Businesses are also required to declare and surrender to the local councils the monies they collected.

"The money collected has to be declared and surrendered to the local authorities. Sixty per cent will go to the state and the remaining 40 per cent to the local authorities' trust fund (Tabung Amanah). The money would be used for environment-related causes."

Hee pointed out that the larger share for the state would offset the anticipated poor collection from more remote municipalities and district councils.

"This would enable us to carry out environment-related programmes throughout Selangor. Our aim is to ensure that we phase out plastic entirely by 2025. We do not want the collection to increase. We want it to decrease."

Meanwhile, Hee revealed that many food and beverage outlet operators no longer provide plastic straws to their customers.

He said the state government will not impose stricter monitoring of F&B outlets as there has been great cooperation from the outlets on this matter.

A fine balance

Hee said the state government plans to form a Selangor Green Council (SGC) by year end to raise awareness on its green initiatives and collaborate with various institutions.

He said the council will be represented by professionals and environmentalists.

"Our focus is to enhance the quality of life through green and smart city planning and execution while increasing public awareness in tackling environmental issues.

"The state government is aware that there is no alternative to balanced development. Our economy needs to develop along with the conservation of our environment and planet.

"A well-kept balance between economic growth and ecological protection is our goal towards a green state for all. We, therefore, must invest wisely and effectively in the new digital world to ensure our state is well equipped to increase liveability and improve resilience,"

Rural folk can recycle too

In an effort to improve recycling practices, especially in rural areas, the state government is looking into initiating a pilot project to bring recycling centres to villages.

"A few villages or kampungs will be shortlisted by the state government and we will embark on recycling initiatives in these areas.

"With proper recycling centres in their villages, the people can also earn money by turning recyclables into sellable items," he said.

After the pilot project takes off, the state government will go through a quick procurement process, if needed, and then continue with the implementation of the initiative in other areas in the state.

This will benefit the 522 villages in the state, out of which 19 are fishing villages and 74, Orang Asli villages.

Safeguarding our water

Following the success of "Ops Sumber Air", where the state government conducted 24-hour monitoring of the areas near the river basin during the Chinese New Year season this year, Hee said the operation has been extended to function on a daily basis.

He said the state administration has requested Indah Water Konsortium to conduct continuous monitoring by increasing its manpower from 200 officers to 300.

"In a bid to combat water pollution, we have increased manpower and operations will be further intensified for the upcoming festive seasons.

"We are taking this approach to avoid river pollution that could cause existing water treatment plants to cease operations and cause water supply disruption," he said.

The state's 2020 Budget saw an allocation of RM1.5 million for green volunteerism, RM500,000 for river conservation efforts, RM500,000 to plant 5,000 trees statewide, RM600,000 to set up recycling centres at all local councils, and RM6.85 million for solid waste management.

A further RM40 million has been set aside for the Taman Rakyat Selangor project, and allocations to fix solar panels at all local councils.

Body-cam proposal gets nod, state to review costs

By ZAREEF MUZAMMIL

SHAH ALAM - Local authorities have welcomed the idea to equip its enforcement officers with body-worn cameras while on duty but have asked the Selangor government to look into the additional costs that would incur.

Kuala Selangor District Council president Rahilah Rahmat commended the suggestion, saying it would protect enforcement officers should any unforeseen circumstances arise.

"Allegations of misconduct by enforcement officers while on duty are taken seriously and we are ready to act on public complaints.

"However, the use of body-worn cameras would involve additional costs and this has to be taken into consideration before the idea is implemented," she told SelangorKini when contacted on Feb 23.

Shah Alam City Council head of Corporate and Public Relations Shahrin Ahmad said the proposal would assist its officers on field duty.

"We often remind our staff, especially those who work on the ground, to have integrity and to be trustworthy, calm, and cautious while engaging the public," he said.

On Feb 15, the Selangor government had considered the need for the enforcement officers of local authorities to be equipped with surveillance cameras while on duty.

The state Local Government, Public Transportation and New Village Development Committee chairman Ng Sze Han said the proposed move is to ensure public safety, monitor enforcement action, as well as to prevent wrongful allegations of misconduct.

Ng suggested for it to be implemented in three months, but said it would depend on the needs and budget of the local authorities.

'Burst pipes caused by careless workers'

PETALING JAYA - Pengurusan Air Selangor Sdn Bhd (Air Selangor) has recorded 1,278 burst pipe incidents between 2017 and 2019 that were due to the negligence of third party contractors.

State Local Government, Public Transport and New Village Development Committee Chairman Ng Sze Han said the incidents would not have taken place had the contractors been careful while carrying out their work around the water pipes.

"To manage this issue, local author-ties are given the power to order contractors to stop their work for at least 30 days.

"An additional clause of the temporary suspension order will be included in the work permit beginning March 1," he said after attending a meeting with the Petaling Jaya City Council here on Feb 18.

Ng said the highest recorded cases in the last three years were in Gombak with 483 cases, followed by Petaling (225), and Kuala Lumpur (221).

MBPJ: 20 sen charge to deter single plastic use

PETALING JAYA - Since December last year, the Petaling Jaya City Council (MBPJ) has issued 38,058 notices to shop operators on the need to charge 20 sen per plastic bag to customers should they request for it. This is part of the council's awareness efforts against single plastic bag use.

Petaling Jaya Mayor Datuk Mohd Sayuthi Bakar said the move would prompt shop operators not to give out free plastic bags to shoppers.

"Widespread and unlimited use of plastic bags would contribute to the production of plastic waste, especially in the commercial sector."

"RM8.6 million was spent by the city council last year on waste disposal," he said in a statement on Feb 10.

The Selangor government had approved the implementation of the collection of plastic bag charges through the local authorities (PBT) beginning Jan 1.

The funds are channelled to the state Trust Fund and used for environmental programmes.

Businesses that are registered under the plastic bag charge collection programme can collect the form from their respective PBTs.

Operators are required to clearly display the registration number and certificate on their premises.

Fewer stray dogs in 2019, says MPSJ

SHAH ALAM - The Subang Jaya Municipal Council (MPSJ) caught a total of 929 stray dogs throughout 2019 after having received 1,468 noise-related complaints, said its president Noraini Roslan.

This is fewer than the 1,022 stray dogs caught in 2018, involving 1,353 complaints.

"Most cases of stray dogs include pet dogs that were abandoned by their owners who had moved from the area, sick dogs, and strays that came from uncontrolled breeding."

"Each complaint was handled by the MPSJ Stray Dog Catching Squad and the enforcement officers would follow the standard operating procedures as there may be risks to the public such as safety, environmental health and hygiene issues," she said after attending the Selangor Local Authority Animal Control Programme 2020 at the MPSJ multipurpose hall, here on March 2.

Noraini said MPSJ has also implemented a new policy whereby higher licensing fees would be imposed on dogs that are not neutered.

"We want to encourage pet owners to neuter their pets to avoid uncontrolled breeding."

"For those who do not neuter their dog, the registration fee would be RM100, with an additional RM20 the following year, while owners of a neutered dog need only pay RM10," she said.

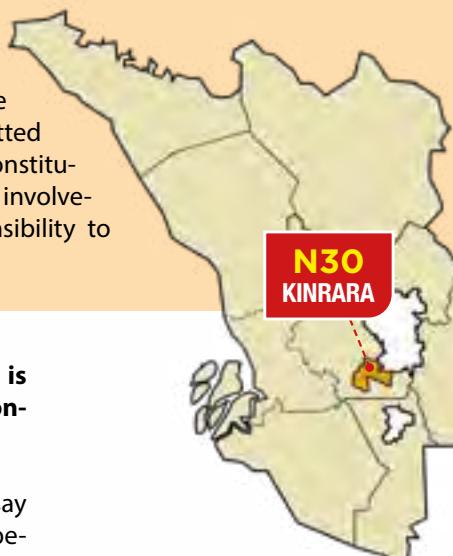

Adun Speaks: Working to keep 74,000 voters happy

By ASHWIN KUMAR

Two-term Kinrara assemblyman Ng Sze Han's involvement in the local government began in 2008 when he took on a local councillor post.

His responsibility has since grown by leaps and bounds, both at work and at home, as a father to three children.

Heading the Selangor Local Government, Public Transport and New Village Development Committee portfolio, Ng is now committed to both the state and his constituency, affirming his political involvement as part of his responsibility to the people.

Selangor Journal (SJ): What is the main industry in your constituency?

Ng Sze Han (NSH): I would say the people itself is our gift, especially when it comes to their contribution to the economy via the F&B industry and all the businesses relating to the wet market. We are strong in sports as well. We have a total of 74,000 voters in Bandar Kinrara alone. I can safely say that it is one of the biggest constituencies in Malaysia.

SJ: What are some of the concerns that are regularly raised by your constituents and how do you plan to address them?

NSH: The people under my constituency always raise issues concerning education and the traffic. As I've said, the population in Bandar Kinrara can be described as "super-sized". Hence, we need more schools and a way to solve traffic congestion. Those two are the missing links that I am trying to solve.

SJ: What is the main attraction in your constituency?

NSH: I would say my constituency is famous for the Taman Wawasan recreational park. It is a great place for recreation and for spending time with family. It has enough facilities to make you sweat, such as futsal and basketball courts, open spaces for playing badminton, a playground for kids, jogging tracks. It is the biggest park under the Subang Jaya Municipal Council and I am happy to announce that the local council will be upgrading the park, which includes cleaning the lake, this year.

SJ: What are some of your achievements in the constituency?

NSH: I would say upgrading facilities such as public parks and football fields are some of my significant efforts. I have always reminded my councillors to pay extra attention to the safety of public parks and playgrounds. I was also fortunate to have played a role in planning several highway interchanges, such as the Bandar Puteri and Puchong Utama exits, which now provide accessibility for the people of Bandar Kinrara.

of your problem-solving methods?

NSH: I don't have an extraordinary method but I always make sure that I meet my voters every Wednesday from 8pm to 10pm at our headquarters. We call it "meet the people session". Sometimes, I will entertain visitors from other states and constituencies who seek my help on various issues. Maybe I am just an "easy to engage" type of person.

SJ: Can you share with us some

Selangor opens campaign with 2-1 away win over Pahang

KUALA LUMPUR - Two time Super League champions Selangor came back from behind to defeat Pahang 2-1 in their Super League opener at Stadium Darul Makmur in Kuantan on Feb 29.

Brazilian import Ivan Carlos put the Elephants ahead in the 20th minute, however, the Red Giants levelled the score through Nigerian striker Ifedayo Olusegun.

B. Sathianathan's side went on to secure all three points through Brendan Gan's 88th-minute strike.

Meanwhile, a brace from Guilherme De Paula (41st minute (penalty) and 79th minute) helped Perak beat Terengganu FC (TFC) 3-1 at the Sultan Mizan Zainal Abidin Stadium in Kuala Terengganu.

The hosts opened the score via Uzbekistani import Sanjar Shaakhmedov's close-range shot in the 18th minute, before referee Mohammad Zamzaidi Kartimin awarded a penalty to Perak when Guilherme was fouled by TFC defender Arif Fadzilah Abu Bakar.

Perak captain Shahrul Saad's thunderous header then put the Bos Gaurus squad ahead in the 52nd minute before Guilherme added the icing on the cake.

Meanwhile, newcomers UiTM FC lost 0-2 to Melaka at the UiTM Stadium in Shah Alam.

The visitors opened the scoring through Haitian striker Sony Norde in the 28th minute before Colombian import Romel Morales doubled the lead in the 90th minute.

Premier League action also saw last year's runners-up Johor Darul Ta'zim (JDT) II begin their season on a high note, defeating Negeri Sembilan 3-1 at the Tuanku Abdul Rahman Stadium in Paroi.

JDT II were clearly the dominant side with Arif Aiman Mohd Hanapi's goal in the second minute, followed by two more from Fernando Rodriguez Ortega in the 23rd and 50th minutes, while Igor Carneiro Luiz got the consolation goal for the home side in the 58th minute.

However, JDT II midfielder Nicolas Alberto Fernandez's red card in the 84th minute for his foul against Muhammad Nazrul Kamaruzaman took some gloss off the win for the visitors.

Kelantan and Kuala Lumpur shared the spoils at the Sultan Muhammad IV Stadium in Kota Bharu with the match ending 1-1.

The Red Warriors opened the scoring through Lazarus Kaimbi's penalty kick in the 47th minute, but Kouassi Francis Kone's 89th-minute strike helped Kuala Lumpur level.

At the Sarawak Stadium in Kuching, newcomers Kuching FA failed to make use of their home advantage, losing 1-2 to Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia (UKM FC) in front of more than 3,500 supporters.

The Varsity Boys' side goals came from South Korea's Lee Seong Woo in the 42nd minute (penalty) and Faiz Hanif Adnan (78th minute), while the home side scored through Rafiezan Razali (56th minute). — Bernama

8,000 take part in state marathon

SHAH ALAM - Over 8,000 participants took part in the two-day Selangor Marathon 2020 series at the Sepang International Circuit, said Tourism Selangor.

Its general manager Azrul Shah Mohamad said both local and foreign runners participated in the event that was held on Feb 22 and 23. The run was endorsed by Tourism Selangor.

"The event was held to promote the Visit Sepang Year 2020 campaign, and was also part of the state government's initiative to encourage a healthy lifestyle," Azrul said in a statement on Feb 27.

The marathon was made up of four categories: the 3 km, 5 km, 21 km and 42 km Fun Run. There was also a 2 km competition for children.

Also present at the event were Sungai Pelek assemblyman Ronnie Liu Tian Khiew dan and Dengkil assemblyman Adhif Syan Abdullah.

Rewards likely for our Sopma stars

SHAH ALAM - The Selangor government is looking into offering an incentive for its athletes who are able to win medals in the Malaysia Deaf Games (Sopma) that will be held in June.

State Youth Generation Development, Sports and Human Capital Development Committee chairman Mohd Khairuddin Othman said the Selangor government has always appreciated athletes with disabilities who succeed at local or international sporting events.

"The state government will continue to give their support to the athletes who participate in Sopma or any other para games.

"We are also ready to help their sports association. What is important is that the athletes focus on winning the games," he told SelangorKini on Feb 11.

Johor will host the Sopma games from June 22 to 27 before the Malaysian Games (Sukma) 2020, which will be held from July 11 to 29.

This is followed by the Para Sukma from Aug 15 to 22.

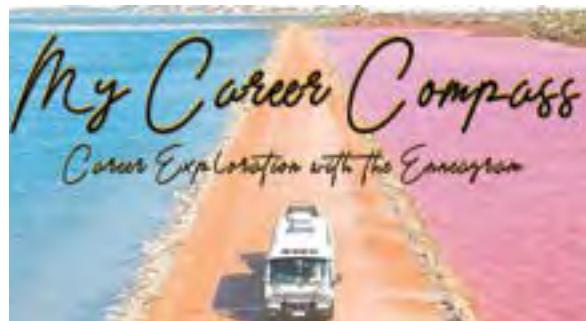

Note: Some of the events may be postponed or cancelled because of the precautionary measures taken against Covid-19
